in order that those who gave their lives
will not be forgotten.

INTRODUCTION

The First World War between Great Britain and Germany commenced on the 4th of August 1914 as a result of the assassination of Archduke Franz Ferdinand which had occurred on the 28th June 1914 in Sarajevo in the Balkans. Prior to this declaration Germany had declared war on a number of other countries including France and Belgium. It was on the 4th August that Germany invaded Belgium causing Great Britain to go to her aid. In the ensuing four years, until the final ceasefire took effect at the eleventh hour of the eleventh day of November 1918, twenty young men of Cannington would die alongside the millions from both sides who paid the ultimate price in the service of their countries. An uneasy peace descended on Europe.

On the 3rd September 1939, following months of negotiations which had failed to resolve differences, Great Britain, Australia, Canada and France again declared war on Germany and subsequently Italy and Japan. Before final peace was declared on the 10th August 1945 Russia, China and the United States of America would become involved. During the course of this conflict a further seven men from the village would die. Another two men were to be buried in our cemetery although they did not live within the village.

It will be noted that under some entries Chads Hill has been spelt Ched's Hill, this is the spelling used in official documents of the time and in connection with those entries I have used that spelling.

This booklet has been published in order that those people who are named on our War Memorial, or who are buried in our cemetery, as a result of the conflicts will not be forgotten.

WE WILL NOT FORGET THEM.

THE HISTORY OF THE CANNINGTON WAR MEMORIAL

On February 19th 1919 a parish meeting was held in the village school to discuss the question of a War Memorial. At this meeting the Revd Mallett, the local vicar, proposed the erection of a village wayside cross in front of the Cottage Home and also, that if enough money was raised, a tablet be erected in the Parish Church with the names of all who fought in the Great War. He also said that we should have a cross to 'remind our men of France where they saw so many crosses'. This proposal was carried and a committee was formed. In 1920 Mr Henry Hales Pleydell Bouverie of Brymore House donated to the parish council the land the cross was erected on. The trustees at that time being the Vicar, the Churchwardens and the Chairman of the parish council. The cross was dedicated in 1920. The tablet was also erected in the Church that year. The total cost was £252.7s.9d (£252.38p).

In July 1922 the parish council acquired a 6" howitzer shell to be displayed alongside the War Memorial. Again Mr. Bouverie donated the land for the display of the shell. At this time the current grass area at the junction of Rodway was a garden area surrounded by metal railings. The shell and railings were to be taken as scrap during World War Two in one of the scrap drives common at that time.

Following World War Two a further six names were added to the plaque on the Memorial, with a further name be added subsequently.

During the building of Hinkley Point 'A' station the War Memorial was moved eight feet closer to the junction in 1957. Fortunately the new site was still within the original donated land.

In 2008, as a result of complaints regarding advertising being placed on the triangle, enquiries were made to confirm ownership of the site by the parish council. It was found that no registration had ever been submitted to the Land Registry Office. Ownership was immediately registered and subsequently, following application, the memorial was granted a Grade II listing by English Heritage. This should ensure that the War Memorial remains a central focal point within the village for the future.

ROLL OF HONOUR

A total of 27 men from the two World Wars are remembered on the Village War Memorial, with a further two deceased from World War Two being buried in Commonwealth War Grave Commission (CWGC) marked graves in Cannington Cemetery who are not named on the Memorial.

He was married and a regular soldier, a Captain, serving with the 1st Siege Battery, Royal Garrison Artillery. Having originally taken the first anti-aircraft gun to France, he was 32 years old when he was killed in action near Poziers, France, on the 18 July 1916 whilst directing fire during the Battle of the Somme. He had previously been awarded the Military Cross and special recommendation when, under fire during the Battle of Loos in February 1916, he took over command of the 1st Siege Battery (6" howitzers). He is buried in Norfolk Cemetery, Becordel-Becourt, France, Plot 1, Row B, Grave 93. His parents are buried in Cannington Cemetery.

WINSBORROW. Leslie William Is entered on the 1911 census as living at Winsborrow's shop, High Street, Cannington. The entry however is crossed out. He is believed to have been born in 1900 in London. He served as Private 161692, 32nd Battalion, Machine Gun Corps. He is believed to have been married and died in Belgium on the 3rd February 1919. He is buried in Belgrade Cemetery, Namur, Belgium, Plot IV, Row A, Grave 10.

WORLD WAR TWO

BARRETT Leonard Joseph He served as Lance Corporal with the 8th Battalion, Royal Fusiliers (City of London Regiment) and was killed in action on the 14th September 1943 during the battle for Salerno, Italy, aged 23 years. He is buried in the Salerno War Cemetery, Plot 11, Row C, Grave 45. No other details are known at this time.

BRAINE Henry Edward Having served as a 2nd Lieutenant in the Manchester Regiment in WWI, he joined the 11th Battalion of the Regiment at the start of WWII. On the night of the 1st/2nd June 1943, aged 46 years, Captain Braine was in charge of a party of RAF personnel crossing the Mediterranean Sea en-route to Africa on the troopship RMS 'Highland Chieftain'. Enquiries show that a number of men were lost at sea during this crossing, of whom Captain Braine was one. No information is available as to the circumstances. His family, at the time, lived at Green Doors, High Street, Cannington.

BUNFIELD Harold Bernard Private 5575949 Bunfield was born in Williton and lived at the Cottage Home, Rodway, Cannington. He joined the Gloucestershire Regiment. On the 7th July 1944 he died somewhere on the Indian Sub-Continent (Burma?). He was 22 years old when he died and is buried in the Kirklees War Cemetery, Plot 8, Row E, Grave 12.

BUSHELL Peter Douglas Makinas Flying Officer (Air Gunner) 54204 Bushell Royal Air Force first flew with 463 Squadron and then transferred to 83 (Pathfinder) Squadron stationed at RAF Conningsby, Lincolnshire flying Lancaster bombers. On the 7th April 1945, aged 25 years, whilst on leave he was killed in Weston-super-Mare when the three wheeler car he was driving overturned. F/O Bushell was born in Barnet, London, but spent his Air Force leave periods with the family of his friend Mervyn Lye in Cannington. F/O Bushell is buried in Cannington Cemetery, Grave 1249. The grave is marked with a CWGC headstone. On the night of his death his squadron flew the last strategic bombing raid of the war on Tonsberg Oil Refinery, Norway. Although buried in the village cemetery he lived outside the village and therefore his name does not appear on the War Memorial. He is still remembered by some of the residents.

World War Two (contd.)

LOOK. John Edward Royal Air Force Sergeant (Air Gunner) 1865658 Look was married. His parents, Henry and Ellen lived in Blackmore Lane and his wife Vera also lived in Cannington. He qualified at Number 5 Lancaster Finishing School on the 10th December 1944 and was posted to 50 Squadron based at RAF Skellingthorpe, Lincolnshire. He had completed six operations over Germany when he was killed in action on a raid to Karlsruhe on the 2nd February 1945. He is buried in Durnbach Cemetery, Bad Tolz, Bayern, Germany, Plot 8, Row G, Grave 18. Three German night-fighter crews claimed shooting down aircraft in the area on that night. This was the last major raid of WWII and the RAF lost 14 Lancaster bombers that night. (98 aircrew).

LYE. Mervyn Courtney Royal Air Force Sergeant (Air Gunner) 649159 Lye lived with his parents at Primrose Cottage, Chads Hill, Cannington. On completing his training he was posted to 100 Squadron flying Lancaster bombers from RAF Waltham near Grimsby. His aircraft was returning from his 22nd operation, against Kassel, Germany, on the 22nd October 1943, when bad weather forced his aircraft to circle the airfield prior to landing. In so doing, and in poor visibility, the aircraft crashed into the side of a hill at North Elkington, near Louth, Lincolnshire. Three of the crew, including Sergeant Lye who was then 21 years of age, were killed in the crash. He is buried in Cannington Cemetery, Grave 1242, alongside his friend F/O Peter Bushell.

MACGREGOR-REID. Kenneth George Watson An Able-Seaman in the Royal Navy, serial D/JX223718 he was attached to HMS President III. At the time he was killed he was serving as a Bofors gunner on a collier, SS Corinia (870 G.R.T.) crossing the Straits of Dover en-route from Blyth to the Isle of Wight when his ship hit a mine. The ship was one of three to be sunk by mines at that time. Aged 42 at the time of his death, he had run away to sea from school and, by the time he was 21, he had circumnavigated the world four times. He then served on tankers prior to joining the Royal Navy and this was his first posting after training. His father having predeceased him, his mother and grandmother, Mrs M. Stone, lived at Speedwell Cottage, Combwich. He is buried in Cannington Cemetery, Grave 1226 which is marked with a CWGC headstone. Although buried in the village cemetery he lived outside the village and therefore his name does not appear on the War Memorial. He is still remembered.

WHITE. Wallace John A Leading Aircraftsman in the Royal Air Force, 926115 White was a member of 2924 Squadron RAF Regiment and stationed in Cyprus. He was a member of the RAF Volunteer Reserve. LAC White was married and his parents, Frederick and Annie White lived at 7 Southbrook, Cannington. He was 23 years of age at the time of his death and is buried in the Nicosia War Cemetery, Grave I.C.12. He is also remembered on a plaque in St. Mary's Church, Cannington.

WILLIAMS. Edward A driver with the Royal Artillery, 1103265 Williams, the son of Edward and Emily Williams he served in Burma where he was to lose his life, aged 28 years, on the 7th February 1944. His remains were not recovered and he is remembered on the Rangoon Memorial, Burma, Face three.

FALKLANDS ISLANDS WAR 1982

BARR. ANDREW Able Seaman (Sonar) D171207C Barr, aged 20 years, lost his life when his ship, HMS Ardent*, sank on the 21st May 1982 following being bombed in Grantham Sound and off North West Island. His remains were not recovered. Although a resident of Bridgwater he had previously been a member of the Cannington Army Cadet Force and is remembered on a plaque at the premises.

STRANGE BUT TRUE

1. Best of Friends

Flight Sergeant Lye, in his will, arranged that should his friend Sergeant, later promoted to Flying Officer, Peter Bushell, be killed during the war that he should be buried in the adjacent plot to his in Cannington Cemetery. Peter was killed in a car accident in Weston super Mare in April 1945 and he was buried in the next plot. Peter had spent all his leave periods with Mervyn and his parents in Chads Hill.

2. Unwelcome News.

Able-Seaman Kenneth W. MacGregor-Reid finished his trade training as a Bofors gunner and was due to go on leave prior to his posting. At the last minute he was posted to the SS Corinia, a collier, sailing out of Blyth bound for Cowes, Isle of Wight. His mother, on being told that a telegram had arrived at her home at Speedwell Cottage Comwich and, believing it was to tell her when Kenneth would be arriving home on leave, rushed home only to find it was to inform her that he had been killed in action.

(*Apology - In the original print of this booklet HMS Ardent was wrongly named as HMS Argent.)

WHEN THE AMERICAN ARMY CAME TO CANNINGTON.

On the 24th February 1944 a train stopped in Bridgwater and discharged members of the 535th Anti Aircraft Artillery Battalion United States Army who were to go on and set up their camp at Brymore House, Cannington, prior to their taking part in the D-Day Normandy landings on the 6th June 1944.

A tented camp was set up in the grounds adjacent to the house and very quickly the house was being guarded by armed sentries. A club was started in the High Street but the majority of the troops spent their off-duty time in Bridgwater.

The arrival of these troops was to affect the village in a number of ways. Both sides found the mannerisms of the other to be strange, but rapidly both settled down to accept the other.

In April 1944 the 535th took part in Exercise Tiger off Slapton Sands, Devon, and one of the landing craft containing members of the 535th had the unnerving experience of seeing torpedoes launched by German E-boats pass the craft, one to the front and one to the rear.

The troops left Brymore during May and travelled to their embarkation area, Dartmouth, where they embarked on LST's. They were to travel to Utah beach to provide anti-aircraft cover for the landing troops and were to remain involved in the fighting until the surrender of the German army in May 1945.

In 2004 a memorial to the 535th was dedicated in Cannington Parish Church.

In 2014 there are still residents who are in contact with survivors of the battalion.

The US Army troops are gone but will not be forgotten

Acknowledgements.

Many people have helped me to compile the personal histories but I must offer special thanks to Gregg Harrison of Grangetown, Cardiff, the historian for 100 Squadron, Royal Air Force for many of the details regarding Air Force personnel and their flying histories in WW2. Also to the Royal Air Force Air Historical Branch at RAF Northolt for their help. I must also thank Lady Sally Wade-Gery for extensive details relating to Captain R.H. Wade-Gery in World War One and Les Quartly of Cannington for the personal details of the Bushell/Lye histories in World War Two. Photographs of the memorials in the Parish Church of St. Mary are reproduced by kind permission of the Rector, the Revd. Prebendary Peter Martin. Also invaluable help was given by the Somerset Heritage Centre staff.

This publication could not have been produced without the assistance of Sedgemoor District Council Community Grants Committee and Cannington Parish Council.

My grateful thanks are extended to the above and all who helped in any way.

Corrections and Additions.

The compiling of this booklet has been hampered due to the lack of local documents relating to a) the provision of the Memorial in the early 1920's and b) the lack of any local personal details of the persons named on that Memorial. The contents of this publication have therefore had to be obtained from many sources. If you believe any of the facts to be incorrect, or have knowledge of further details concerning any of the named persons, please contact Robin Child on 01278 653269.

Cannington Website: www.cannington.org.uk. The village website contains details of the events in the village, persons buried in the cemetery and also Cannington's War dead.
